Boiler Plate
The Real Problem with James Prendamano Podcast

About The Real Problem with James Prendamano Podcast

The Real Problem with James Prendamano is a groundbreaking podcast that challenges everything we think we know about politics, power, and truth. Each episode goes beyond the headlines to expose the machinery of corruption eroding America from within while exploring the deeper human crisis that allows it to persist.

With the same discipline and empathy that define his work in real estate and education, James Prendamano examines how the relentless pursuit of power reflects the internal conflicts of individuals and institutions alike. From the halls of Congress to the neighborhoods where policy becomes personal, he dissects how systems fail, and how people can reclaim their agency.

Through candid monologues, expert interviews, and unfiltered discussions, The Real Problem strips away partisan theater to reveal the moral and psychological forces shaping public life. Rather than assigning blame, it seeks to ignite awareness and responsibility, because as Prendamano reminds listeners, the real problem cannot be solved until it is understood.

# #

MEDIA CONTACT:
Patrick Pharris
Executive Director, Corporate Communications and Public Relations
PreReal Investments, Inc.

+1 (702) 491-7464